Colorado Singletrack

5 days/4 nights

DAY 1

After meeting in Durango, we'll load up and shuttle to our first day's ride, the Hermosa Creek Trail. This singletrack trail is considered one of the best in the Rockies and is a great warm up for the rest of our trip. Although we are almost always losing elevation on this 18 mile trail, it is a challenging workout. Beginning in the open meadows of Hermosa Park, we ride beside Hermosa Creek for a few miles before the creek drops away from the trail. The single-track threads through large stands of aspens and conifers. After intersecting Dutch Creek we will begin a short, but strenuous climb. Some of the best riding of the day occurs after the climb, as we roll along at a fairly steady elevation, high above the roaring creek. Once we reach the trailhead, we'll shuttle further up into the mountains to our camp at Little Molas Lake.

TOTAL MILEAGE: 19 miles

DAY 2

Today we will start riding on the Colorado Trail, which ultimately runs 500 miles from Denver to Durango and provides amazing wilderness scenery along its entire course. The theme for the day is 25 miles of alpine riding, most of it at or near tree line. From our camp, we climb to Rolling Pass which sits at 12,500 feet. The views from the top are stunning and along our route we will see Engineer Peak, Twin Sisters and the peaks of the Grenadier Range. After we take it all in, we will begin a big descent to Cascade Creek, riding through wildflowers which can be handlebar height at their peak! From the creek, we begin our final ascent of the day to Sliderock Pass and then, you guessed it, we go downhill again to our camp at Bolam Pass, 11,000 feet.

TOTAL MILEAGE: 25 miles

DAY 3

Today we'll continue along the Colorado Trail. From camp the trail begins by winding around the slopes of Hermosa Peak before ascending 12,000-foot Blackhawk Pass. There will be some short hike-a-bikes on this section, which give us a chance to stretch our legs and enjoy the far reaching views from this high elevation trail. From the pass we descend some technical switchbacks carved into the granite hillside. After a quick stop at a spring we will ride downhill on the forested ridges high above Straight Creek. The trail swoops into Hotel Draw where we'll pick up the Highline section of the Colorado Trail. This ridgeline provides expansive views of the mysterious Weminuch Wilderness and the peaks of the La Platas, which draw nearer daily. Tonight's "Orphan Butte" camp is on Highline Ridge at approximately 10,800 feet.

DAY 4

"The Big Day." Today's Indian Trail Ridge section of the Colorado Trail presents the most challenging terrain we've seen so far. The ridge itself is a section of trail that runs above treeline at 12,000 feet for nearly four miles. It is an outstanding alpine trail, truly unique in the world of mountain biking. The entire day is alpine in character with both smooth and rocky descents, long climbs, short hike-a-bikes and outstanding 360-degree views of mountains stretching to the horizons. This is an unforgettable day spent on your bike. Our camp tonight is on Kennebec Pass in the La Plata Mountains at 11,600 feet.

TOTAL MILEAGE: 17 miles

DAY 5

Today is the reward for all the climbing of the past four days. We'll follow the Colorado Trail 26 miles to Durango. Although we have a 1200 foot climb midday, our cumulative vertical descent is 6000 feet total! The day starts with a stellar descent of 3,500 feet, which winds back and forth in the creek drainages of the La Plata Mountains. At the base we'll cross Junction Creek and begin our climb that takes about 1-1/2 hours before topping out on Wild Oat Mesa. Continuing down another 2,500 feet the Colorado Trail eventually ends our journey as we ride triumphantly into Durango.

TOTAL MILEAGE: 26 miles

Packing for your trip

Be sure to bring everything on this list. We have carefully developed this list to ensure your comfort on the tour regardless of the weather. If you are prepared for extreme weather, it is an adventure. If you are not prepared it can be a serious problem.

We recommend the layering system, including a wicking or long underwear layer, an insulating layer and a weather barrier for wind and rain. This list reflects that philosophy. Weather in the mountains can be unpredictable so be sure to bring all the warm clothing and rain gear listed!

HOW TO PACK: When you arrive for your tour, you will be given a dry bag in which to pack your gear for the trip. Smaller bags may fit, but very large duffels will not.

To pack efficiently in a dry bag, we highly recommend you compartmentalize your clothing and gear into separate bags. Stuff sacks, reusable grocery bags, etc. in different colors work great for this (example: cycling gear in blue stuff sack, camp clothes in red stuff sack, etc.).

Your dry bag will ride on the Western Spirit support vehicle and will not be accessible during the day.

For this trip, you will need a riding pack and optional day bag:

- Your riding pack may be a hydration pack, but needs to carry 2-3 liters of water, rain gear, other warm clothing, and food for the day. You may be away from camp and the support vehicle all day and need to be self-sufficient.
- A small day bag is optional and may be used to store things you'd rather not ride with, but would like to have access to during the day. This day-pack will remain with the support vehicle and may not be accessible, depending on the day.

- ✓ meals, snacks, water, electrolyte drinks, non-alcoholic drinks
- ✓ camp mugs, all kitchen and dining ware

- ✓ solar showers (enough water to rinse off, but not take a full-fledged shower; water dependent)
